Message from the Company

To Unitholders

Market Summary

The global economy in 2025 has been shaped by rising geopolitical tensions, trade fragmentation, and technological disruption. The U.S. economy showed signs of slowing due to lingering effects of monetary tightening and new tariffs, though a recession has not materialized. Production challenges persist in Europe's economy, largely driven by disruptions caused by the trade war. Emerging markets like Brazil and Russia are showing signs of weakness, whereas China's resilience has slightly exceeded expectations. Global equity markets rebounded strongly since April, reflecting optimism despite risks from trade policy shifts. Inflation dynamics are diverging, with the U.S. seeing a pickup in core categories, while Europe and China face disinflationary pressures. Central banks are diverging in policy, with the Fed pausing rate cuts, the ECB nearing the end of its easing cycle, the PBoC waiting for the right moment to cut interest rates further, while the BoJ in the hiking cycle.

Global fixed income markets have delivered strong returns year-to-date, supported by declining yields, tighter credit spreads, and resilient demand for income assets. The shift in monetary policy toward easing, led by the Federal Reserve, has driven curve steepening and boosted price appreciation across sectors. Investment-grade and high-yield bonds have both benefited, with spreads compressing despite near-record issuance levels, reflecting robust investor appetite. Attractive coupon income combined with falling long-term rates created a favorable backdrop for total returns, particularly in credit segments. However, risks remain from geopolitical uncertainty, tariff-related inflation pressures, and fragile labor markets, which could influence central bank trajectories.
